

CLAIMS

What I claim as my invention is:

1. The gravity air motion (G.A.M.) machine comprising 4 arms containing compressed air, piston, piston rod and weight extend from a revolving shaft which houses a compressor. The shaft revolves or turns to create a force or power i.e. the creation of energy from the worldwide acclaimed terminology of alternative power.
2. The machine will be activated by the use of compressed air, the ongoing forward thrust of the "arms" comes from the balancing of weights and the laws of gravity.
3. The calculus or mathematics will be an exact science, and available in due course to give exacting weights and distances, etc, for the required amount of power in any given example.
